HANSA unveils a new “twist” to the home spa The HANSACOLOURSHOWER now available with an integrated thermostatic control

NORCROSS, Ga. (April 2009) – Answering the demand for more flexible volume and temperature control, Hansa introduces the HANSACOLOURSHOWER with an enhanced feature—the HANSATWISTER. With the simple push of a button, the HANSACOLOURSHOWER provides color for a stimulating shower experience that reduces stress, balances energy and creates a sense of well-being.

“The HANSACOLOURSHOWER was so well received that we wanted to expand the options available to homeowners,” says Darryl Jones, Divisional Sales Manager of Hansa and KWC AMERICA. “Along with the soothing effects of our chromatherapy package, we are pleased to offer an element that allows for a thermostatic solution.”

Featuring a handheld body sprayer, an adjustable showerhead, and a lotion/soap dispenser, the HANSACOLOURSHOWER incorporates high-performance LEDs that encompass the entire chromatic spectrum. Research has found that color affects mood—red tones provide stimulation, yellow tones induce happiness, and blue tones relax the senses. The combination of these components and the new twister option gives homeowners the freedom to set an ideal temperature and pressure for a customizable shower.
